No Way to Treat a Child Fact Sheet

Did you know...

- Israel is the only country in the world that systematically prosecutes between 500 and 700 children in a military court system each year.
- Ill-treatment of Palestinian children arrested by Israeli forces is widespread, systematic, and institutionalized. Three out of four children experience physical violence at some point following arrest.
- Amid escalating violence on the ground since October 2015, Palestinian children have been living under an increasingly militarized environment and subject to disproportionate violence.
- In October 2015, Israel renewed its use of administrative detention against Palestinian children for the first time in four years. Administrative detention is a process whereby a child is detained without charge or trial, often renewable indefinitely. Defense for Children International - Palestine collected comprehensive data showing 14 minors were placed under administrative detention in 2016.
- Israeli authorities are increasingly using solitary confinement for interrogation purposes, a practice amounting to torture under international law. In 2016, DCIP documented 25 cases of children held in solitary confinement for interrogation purposes for an average period of 16 days. The longest period of isolation for a child last year was 29 days.
- Children under 18 years old now represent 46 percent of the 4.68 million Palestinians living in the occupied Palestinian territory. This generation of Palestinians is growing up under the shadow of failed negotiations and implementation, with a future stifled by systematic discrimination, settlement expansion, and a prolonged military occupation with no end in sight.
- The US government is well-aware of this issue - we just need to push them to take action! Since 2007, each State Department annual human rights country report on Israel and the Occupied Palestinian Territory has highlighted these issues. In 2015, 19 members of Congress signed a letter to Secretary of State John Kerry, urging him to prioritize this issue in the US government's bilateral relationship with Israel. One year later, 20 members of Congress called for concrete action, this time in a letter to President Barack Obama, urging him to appoint a Special Envoy for Palestinian children. In 2017, over 11,000 people signed a petition to Secretary of State Rex Tillerson, demanding Israel be held accountable for these widespread and systematic human rights abuses.

The No Way to Treat a Child campaign seeks to challenge Israel's prolonged military occupation of Palestinians by exposing widespread and systematic ill-treatment of Palestinian children in the Israeli military detention system.
